 You pay higher institutional tuition fees (see costs Non-EEA students) if you have already obtained a bachelor or master degree in The Netherlands.

The total costs include the following:

a) Tuition fees for EEA-students	Tuition fees set by the government are referred to as statutory fees and for academic year 2020-2021 these fees amount to €2,143. In addition, Hotelschool The Hague has been successfully accredited with the distinctive feature of "small-scale and intense education by the NVAO (The Dutch-Flemish accreditation board). This means that HTH has been accredited by the NVAO on the following eight criteria: intended learning outcomes; relationship between the goal and the content of the programme; structure and didactic concept; Intake; Quality of Staff; Number of Staff; Available facilities, and Level realized. This implies for example that the ratio of staff to students at HTH is higher than at most larger institutes of higher education, that the learning goals are more ambitious and that we have a sound selection procedure in place. Based on this distinctive feature, Hotelschool The Hague is allowed to charge an additional tuition fee. Tuition fees for 2020-2021 set at € 3,500 for all students except for non-EEA (European Economic Area*) students. These fees also include non-subsidised expenses, such as expenses for an accident and liability insurance, official internal events for placement students and the graduation ceremony and the maintenance of the high-quality international network, e.g. reputable placement companies. Due to this contribution the restaurants can also offer prices that are below the market price. Payment in installments is possible for EEA-students who have their own bank account in the Netherlands.
b) Skotel, training and study hotel	The Skotel and practical education form an integral part of the curriculum. It is compulsory for students to stay at the Skotel (the training and study hotel) during the first year; either in Amsterdam or The Hague. The fee includes breakfast and one meal a day at school during 40 school weeks as well as access to the Internet during 45 weeks. After the first year, students are required to make their own accommodation arrangements. The Skotel fees also include a deposit of € 250. This deposit is reserved for repairs of any damage to Skotel property caused by students. This deposit is refunded after compensation of any outstanding balances or damage upon departure from the Skotel.

Please note: there are some variable additional costs:

Computer/laptop	Although the school provides excellent computer facilities, we do advise students to purchase a laptop. Each student can log on to the school computer network by using their personal username & password as assigned by the IT Department. Throughout the school and at the Skotel rooms, there are wireless access points where you can connect to the Internet via your own laptop, mobile phone or similar using the 'HDH-HotSpot'. Please make sure you have a suitable portable device and either use a normal network cable (utp patch cable) or WiFi.

Books	Books can be bought from the school's supplier. Other lesson materials consist mainly of a course guide that contains important information for each course, such as for instance the number of ECs it represents, and who the lecturers are. Workbooks and manuals provide additional reading material to supplement the books. These course materials are available free of charge after your start on the school's intranet: www.myhotelschool.nl
Student expenditure for practical education	The average costs including uniforms, a scarf, badge, and a knife set amount to approximately € 675. This amount excludes optional products like socks, belt, and shoes.

 Please note that the costs mentioned are preliminary. As soon as the definite costs are available, we will publish them on our website. We are not liable for any typing errors and prices may be subject to change.
